

Denise Drumm

I began my imaging career in 1990 as a Radiologic Technologist. I became a Sonographer in 1994. I have been working at Lansing Community College as the Clinical Coordinator for the DMS Program for the last eight years. I enjoy sharing my knowledge of sonography with my students and hope to inspire each of them to attain their goals. I continue to work in sonography at Borgess at Woodbridge Hills in Portage, Michigan two or more days each month to keep my skills and remain aware of changes in the field. It feels great being a part of the MSS and their mission to educate sonographers. I felt called to “give back” to this group as I have benefitted from the many symposiums I have attended over the years. I live in Marshall, Michigan with my husband of 22 years (Bill), our two daughters (Megan-19 years and Morgan-16 years) and my black lab Jack. I spend my free-time attending school and sports related events for my kids, cooking, reading and singing in my church praise team. I look forward to serving the MSS Board this year and beyond!
