

I am honored to be serving as the President of the Michigan Sonographers Society in its 41th anniversary year! As one of the original co-founders of this organization, I have been impressed with how our members have stepped up to volunteer as committee chairs and board members over four decades of its existence. My ultrasound career began at Oklahoma University Health Science Center in 1973, then moved to Michigan to work at Oakwood Hospital in 1975. I found my place in Michigan and the MSS is a big part of my life here.
